Special Breakfast with Garth Jestley

TAKING RISK ON PURPOSE

Integrating business, life & faith

Whether you are walking across the street or investing in the stock market, risk is a fact of life. Garth Jestley can speak with authority regarding risk. For over 40 years, he has held many senior leadership positions in investment management, venture capital, corporate banking, international project financing, private debt placement & investment banking.

Garth stepped back from his duties as CEO of the group's core investment management business at Middlefield Group in 2012 & subsequently assumed the role of Executive Director of LeaderImpact for four years. He currently serves on the board of directors of two Christian organizations & has authored the book "More Than Your Business Card".

Garth will share lessons he has learned regarding risk, providing a solid basis for evaluating business & personal risk. In that context he will outline how his faith in God has impacted his business, family & personal life.

Garth and his wife, Mary, are involved in various church leadership roles, including ministering & speaking in Canada & around the world. They place a high priority on family and, in particular, enjoy spending time with their children and grandchildren.
